

PARENT COMPASS

WORKBOOK

Your scratch paper while your athlete completes her MAZE. See what she is building. Build your mirror alongside her.

HOW TO USE THIS WORKBOOK

- Your athlete is working through the MAZE. This workbook runs alongside her — one week behind.
- Each section explains what she is doing and gives you your own version to work through.
- Purple tint fields show where her answers will go. Write what you think she might say — then compare when she shares.
- Your answers here feed directly into the ecosystem form you submit when she completes the MAZE.
- Mess up. Cross things out. This is scratch paper. Your journal is on its way.

MODULE 0

BOLD COMMITMENT — PARENT

A HEADS UP BEFORE SHE BEGINS

Your athlete is about to make a commitment. Before she does — here is what you need to know.

- She is choosing this for herself. Not because you signed her up. The commitment only works if it is hers.
- She may choose you as her accountability buddy. That means one question per week: "Did you do the work?" Nothing more.
- She may need help choosing an accountability buddy. The best buddy is someone doing hard things themselves — not someone who fixes her.
- Your job right now is to give her the space to make this choice honestly.

YOUR BOLD COMMITMENT

She is signing her name. So are you. Write these honestly — these are your real answers.

1 WHY I AM CHOOSING TO BE THE PARENT MY ATHLETE NEEDS:

2 THE PATTERN I AM COMMITTING TO CHANGE:

3 WHAT I AM TAKING RESPONSIBILITY FOR IN OUR ECOSYSTEM:

MY SIGNATURE — THIS IS MY COMMITMENT TO OUR ECOSYSTEM.

IF SHE CHOOSES YOU AS HER ACCOUNTABILITY BUDDY

One question. Every week. That is the whole role.

"Did you do the work?"

If yes — "Great. Keep going." If no — "Okay. What do you need?"

RIGHT NOW → YOUR PARALLEL TRACK

ATHLETE TRACK

Weeks 1–2: Your athlete completes the MAZE. Mindset. Analyze. Zero In. Execute. When she is done — she submits her MAZE Completion Form. Nothing moves forward without it.

→ SUBMIT MAZE COMPLETION FORM — link sent directly to your athlete.

YOUR TRACK

While your athlete completes the MAZE — browse her trainings, complete your Parent Onboarding, and work through the MAZE Mirror in this workbook. You are not behind. You are preparing. When she is done, she submits her form. Then you submit yours. Both go to Gabby. Your personalized Parent Compass ships after that.

→ SUBMIT YOUR ECOSYSTEM RESPONSES — button available in the digital studio.

WHAT TO DO RIGHT NOW — IN ORDER

1. Complete your Bold Commitment page in this workbook. Sign your name.
2. Read the Getting Started section — understand all four MAZE phases.
3. Browse your athlete trainings so you know what she is building.
4. Work through M — Mindset Mirror in this workbook.
5. Work through A — Analyze Mirror in this workbook.
6. Work through Z — Zero In Mirror in this workbook.
7. Work through E — Execute Mirror in this workbook.
8. Wait for her MAZE Completion Form confirmation — then submit your Ecosystem Responses.

This workbook is your scratch paper. Your personalized Parent Compass journal arrives after you both submit your forms. Everything you write here transfers into that journal.

THE MAZE — YOUR OVERVIEW

THE MOST INTENTIONAL PARENTS RAISE THE MOST INTENTIONAL ATHLETES.

They're the most intentional. That's what this system builds alongside her.

THE FOUR PHASES — WHAT SHE IS BUILDING AND YOUR MIRROR

M — MINDSET

What she is doing: Finding her purpose. Building her mantra. Choosing a heroine. Emotions are information not instructions.

Your mirror:

Understand what she is building. Prepare to receive her mantra and heroine without evaluating them. Build your own.

A — ANALYZE

What she is doing: Looking honestly at her habits and choices. Connecting them to her performance. The mirror phase.

Your mirror:

Begin your own habit audit. What patterns in YOUR behavior are helping or getting in the way?

Z — ZERO IN

What she is doing: Choosing three specific skills. Stacking each one three levels deep. Sharing her plan with her coach.

Your mirror:

Learn her three skills and their intangibles. These become the shared language of your season.

E — EXECUTE

What she is doing: Building her full system — execution map, habit tracker, game day protocol, practice reflection.

Your mirror:

Build your execution map alongside hers. Your habits. Your cues. Your ecosystem commitments.

YOUR DAILY LOOP

- SHOW UP WITH INTENTION — Know what your athlete is working on before you arrive at the gym.
- LET HER LEAD — Observe. Not evaluate.
- REFLECT WITH HER — One experience question after every session. Then listen.
- ADJUST AND GO AGAIN — One honest change per week. Same standard you are asking of her.

1 ONE QUESTION I HAVE BEFORE WE BEGIN:

MAZE PHASE 1 MIRROR

MINDSET

WHAT SHE IS DOING THIS WEEK

She is finding her reason for being here. Building her mantra. Choosing a heroine. Learning that emotions are information — not instructions.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

- Her mantra is in her own voice. Five words or less. A decision — not a wish.
- Her heroine is a behavioral model — not a comparison. She asks "what would she do?" not "why am I not her?"
- She is connecting her emotions to information — not reacting to them.
- She is beginning to notice her inner voice — when it gets loud and what it says.

HER RESPONSES — ANTICIPATE BEFORE SHE SHARES

Write what you think she might say. The gap between your prediction and her answer is the most valuable information in this workbook.

FROM HER COMPASS: HER WHY — WHY SHE KEEPS SHOWING UP

FROM HER COMPASS: HER MANTRA

FROM HER COMPASS: HER HEROINE + THE QUALITY SHE IS BUILDING

THE THREE INTERNAL QUESTIONS — WAYPOINT 9

Run these through your head before every conversation this season. Not out loud. Internally. Before you speak.

- What does she need from me right now?
- Am I about to respond to her — or react to my own feelings?
- Is this about her development — or my expectations?

WAYPOINT 9

Awareness without a framework doesn't create change. It creates guilt. These questions are the framework.

YOUR FOUR WORKBOOK PROMPTS

Write honestly. Nobody is grading you.

1 HOW WOULD YOU DESCRIBE YOUR ROLE IN YOUR DAUGHTER'S SPORTS JOURNEY RIGHT NOW — NOT

2 WHEN SHE HAS A TOUGH GAME — WHAT DO YOU ACTUALLY DO IN THE FIRST THIRTY MINUTES AFTER

3 WHAT DOES A SUCCESSFUL SEASON LOOK LIKE TO YOU? FIRST ANSWER. NO FILTER:

4 WHAT DOES A SUCCESSFUL SEASON LOOK LIKE TO HER? WRITE WHAT YOU THINK SHE WOULD SAY:

THE GAP

Look at your answers to 3 and 4. If they are different — write what you notice. That gap is where friction lives.

THE LANGUAGE SWAP — WAYPOINT 4

This week — replace one outcome statement with one experience question. Just one.

Instead of saying:

I will ask:

WAYPOINT 4

The process is the point. The outcome is the byproduct. Your language signals which one you are invested in.

THE THREE CONVERSATION QUESTIONS — WAYPOINT 8

Ask her these out loud. Write her answers exactly as she says them. Do not interpret. Do not respond. Just write.

Question 1 — When you are having a hard time with your sport — what do you need most from me in that moment?

Question 2 — What is one thing I do that helps you feel supported?

Question 3 — What is one thing I do that makes it harder?

Write her exact words. This is the most important answer in this program.

WAYPOINT 8

You were never the problem. But you are part of the solution. You asked. She answered. That is where change starts.

YOUR THREE WAYPOINTS — YOUR OPERATING SYSTEM

These three together are your operating system for this entire program.

WAYPOINT 2

Your perspective shapes every conversation, every decision, every outcome.

WAYPOINT 4

The process is the point. The outcome is the byproduct.

WAYPOINT 8

You were never the problem. But you are part of the solution.

ANALYZE

WHAT SHE IS DOING THIS WEEK

She is looking honestly at her habits and choices and connecting them to her performance. She is learning: feel it, then examine it. This is the mirror phase — uncomfortable and necessary.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

- She is being honest about what her habits are actually creating — not what she wishes they were.
- She is naming patterns without spiraling into shame.
- She understands that emotions are guides not enemies.
- She is carrying her No habits forward as building blocks — not failures.

HER RESPONSES — ANTICIPATE BEFORE SHE SHARES

FROM HER COMPASS: HER SEASON GOAL

FROM HER COMPASS: HER NO HABITS — THE ONES YOU PREDICT SHE WILL IDENTIFY

YOUR MIRROR — THE AWARENESS MIRROR

Waypoint 2 in action. Her replay is her habits. Your replay is your car rides, your tone after a hard game, your text threads.

1 WHAT DOES YOUR REPLAY LOOK LIKE THIS SEASON? BE SPECIFIC:

Think beyond game day. Her sphere of influence includes everything she watches you do at home, at the table, in traffic, under stress. Column 4 question: does this support HER goals — not yours.

Think about habits in four areas:

- SPORT — car rides, sideline energy, post-game language, how you talk about her coach and teammates.
- HOME ENVIRONMENT — phone at dinner, stress you bring home, what you model around sleep and recovery.
- EMOTIONAL REGULATION — how you react when things go wrong in your own life. She is watching.
- ACCOUNTABILITY — do you own your mistakes or blame circumstances? That is what you are teaching.

HABIT (What you actually do)	EMOTION (One word)	OUTCOME (What it creates)	GOAL? (Yes/No)

YOUR POSITIVE REPLACEMENTS

For every No habit — write what you will START doing instead. Positive language only.

No habit 1 → I will:

No habit 2 → I will:

No habit 3 → I will:

MAZE PHASE 3 MIRROR

ZERO IN

WHAT SHE IS DOING THIS WEEK

She is choosing three specific skills and stacking each one three levels deep — the skill, the specific technical focus inside it, and the intangible mental quality behind it. She is sharing her plan with her coach.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

- She chose three skills based on her season goal — not her lowest scores.
- She knows the intangible behind each skill and where it shows up off the court.
- She had the coach conversation proactively — before anything went wrong.
- She is comparing herself to herself — not her teammates. You vs. You.

HER RESPONSES — ANTICIPATE BEFORE SHE SHARES

FROM HER COMPASS: HER THREE FOCUS SKILLS

FROM HER COMPASS: THE INTANGIBLES BEHIND EACH SKILL

FROM HER COMPASS: HER SEASON GOAL

YOUR MIRROR — THREE PARENT FOCUS AREAS

Your three parent focus areas — the behaviors most connected to her development this season.

PARENT FOCUS AREA 1

The habit I am replacing:

What No habit from your audit is most affecting her environment?

The replacement habit (positive language):

What will you start doing instead?

How I will know it is working:

What will be different in her behavior or your relationship?

PARENT FOCUS AREA 2

The habit I am replacing:

What No habit from your audit is most affecting her environment?

The replacement habit (positive language):

What will you start doing instead?

How I will know it is working:

What will be different in her behavior or your relationship?

PARENT FOCUS AREA 3

The habit I am replacing:

What No habit from your audit is most affecting her environment?

The replacement habit (positive language):

What will you start doing instead?

How I will know it is working:

What will be different in her behavior or your relationship?

THE THREE SKILL BLUEPRINT

For each skill — fill in the following. Her words not yours.

SKILL 1

The physical skill she is developing:

Her exact words.

Her satisfaction rating from her wheel:

Her number — not your assessment.

The one action she identified to improve it:

Her specific technical focus.

The intangible behind this skill:

Her word — composure, focus, resilience...

How you will acknowledge it when you see it at home:

Yours to fill in.

SKILL 2

The physical skill she is developing:

Her exact words.

Her satisfaction rating from her wheel:

Her number — not your assessment.

The one action she identified to improve it:

Her specific technical focus.

The intangible behind this skill:

Her word — composure, focus, resilience...

How you will acknowledge it when you see it at home:

Yours to fill in.

SKILL 3

The physical skill she is developing:

Her exact words.

Her satisfaction rating from her wheel:

Her number — not your assessment.

The one action she identified to improve it:

Her specific technical focus.

The intangible behind this skill:

Her word — composure, focus, resilience...

How you will acknowledge it when you see it at home:

Yours to fill in.

THE HOME TRAINING CONVERSATION

After the blueprint — have this conversation before the season starts. For each intangible ask: "What do you think you could be doing at HOME to train that? Not at practice. At home." Then listen. Write what she says. That is your assignment.

Intangible 1 — her word:

What she said she needs at home:

What I will do:

Intangible 2 — her word:

What she said she needs at home:

What I will do:

Intangible 3 — her word:

What she said she needs at home:

What I will do:

WAYPOINT 1

The family is her first performance environment. This conversation is how you start building that environment on pur

E

EXECUTE

WHAT SHE IS DOING THIS WEEK

She is building her full execution system — the Come Back Here map, her Focus 5 habits, her game day protocol, and her practice reflection habit.

WHAT GOOD LOOKS LIKE

- She knows her team goal and her individual contribution to it.
- Her Focus 5 habits are written in positive language and connected to her three skills.
- She has a pre-game protocol that starts before she walks into the gym.
- She is using her journal before and after every practice and game.

HER EXECUTION MAP — ANTICIPATE BEFORE SHE SHARES

These fields will be pre-filled in your physical journal when it arrives. Write your predictions here first.

FROM HER COMPASS: HER SEASON GOAL

FROM HER COMPASS: HER TEAM GOAL

FROM HER COMPASS: HER INDIVIDUAL CONTRIBUTION

FROM HER COMPASS: HER MANTRA

FROM HER COMPASS: HER THREE FOCUS SKILLS + INTANGIBLES

YOUR EXECUTION MAP — COME BACK HERE

She completes her MAZE first. When she shares her Execution Map with you — that is your cue to build yours. Not before. After. What goes on your map is shaped by what she shared. Build it here as scratch paper. Transfer into your Parent Compass when it arrives.

RECEIVE HER MAP FIRST

Ask her: "What can I do at home between now and mid-season to support your process?" Then write exactly what she says.

Season Goal

Your goal for yourself in your support role this season. Not about her performance. About your behavior.

Why This Goal

The honest reason. What have you seen in yourself that makes this the thing you need to work on?

Your Mantra

Complete: "When things get hard I remember that my job is to _____ not _____."

Your Daily Habits

Three to five support habits. Positive language only. What you will do — not what you will stop.

Your Weekly Checkpoint

When and how will you assess your own progress each week? Name the moment.

Your Three Support Focus Areas

The habit you are replacing. The conversation pattern you are changing. The mindset shift you are making.

WAYPOINT 3

Outcome goals are the destination. Milestone goals are the road. Your map is the road.

YOUR FOUR COMMITMENTS

These are the parent accountability checklist. If you are doing these four things — you are building.

1

YOUR DAILY RECORD

Journal your observations before and after every practice and game day.

2

YOUR INNER VOICE

Recite your mantra before you walk into the gym. Every time.

3

YOUR TRIANGLE

One experience question after every session. Then listen.

4

TRACK WHAT MATTERS

Use your habit tracker every single day.

YOUR FIVE SUPPORT HABITS — HABIT TRACKER SETUP

Same rules as her tracker. Five habits maximum. Positive language only. These come from your No habit replacements in Analyze. What you will DO — not what you will stop.

Habit 1:

Habit 2:

Habit 3:

Habit 4:

Habit 5:

Not her habits. Not the coach behavior. Not the team performance. Yours. Only yours.

THE COLLABORATOR SETUP

Before the season starts — do this WITH her. Not FOR her. Pick one of her habits most connected to the home environment.

Ask her: "What would help you build this habit at home? What can I do — or stop doing — to make it easier?"

The habit she is working on:

What she said she needs:

What I will do before the first game:

MID-SEASON — ONE QUESTION FOR HER

"Is there anything I have been doing differently at home this season that has made things easier for you?"

Write what she says exactly:

Her exact words. This answer is worth more than any stat or standing.

WAYPOINT 7

The system around the athlete matters more than talent. You are the system. Track yourself. See what happens.

THE COLLABORATOR APPROACH

When you see a gap — do not fill it. Create the conditions for her to fill it herself.

The question that turns management into collaboration:

"You said [habit/goal] is something you are working on. What do you need from me to make that easier?"

Then do what she says. Not what you think she needs. What she says.

This week I will ask her about:

YOUR GAME DAY PROTOCOL — SAME THREE MOVES EVERY GAME

Do these before you open the car door. Every game. No exceptions.

1

DECOMPRESSION

Five minutes alone in the car. Quiet. No phone. Whatever is loud in your head — leave it in the car. Transition from your day into your role.

2

YOUR MANTRA — THREE REPETITIONS

Her game. Her work. My job is calm. Or your version. Three times. Out loud or in your head. This anchors your role before the first serve.

3

YOUR HANDS

Find something to settle them. Pockets. A railing. A coffee cup. Your hands broadcast your state before your face does. When they are still — your body follows.

WAYPOINT 5

Emotional contagion in the stands is not love. It is leakage. Be the still point.

MID-GAME RESET — THREE SECONDS BACK TO BACK

Every time the game tests your state. The standard: they should not be able to read your mood from the bench.

1. INHALE — one deliberate breath.
2. EXHALE — let it go.
3. ONE WORD — your anchor. Calm. Still. Present.

Not suppression. Management. Your athlete is doing her version on the court right now.

I LOVE WATCHING YOU PLAY.

First words after every game. Complete sentence. No but. Then let her lead.

SIXTY MINUTES BEFORE ANY DEBRIEF

The car ride home is part of the sixty minutes. Reacting is not reflecting. For either of you.

When she opens it — ask one word: How. "How did that feel for you today?"

WAYPOINT 5

Emotional contagion in the stands is not love. It is leakage. Be the still point.

YOUR GAME PAGES — IN YOUR JOURNAL

Your Parent Compass journal will have dedicated game pages — one per game day. These are not fill-in cards. They are full journal pages designed to be used before and after every game all season.

Each game page will include:

- Pre-game — your three moves, your observation intention, your sideline intention.
- During — your one skill observation note.
- After — your first words, the 60-minute note, your how question response.
- Post-game — what you observed, what you said first, your sideline presence, one thing to do differently.

USE THIS WORKBOOK UNTIL YOUR JOURNAL ARRIVES

Practice the three moves now before the first game. Write your mantra below. Write your anchor word. When your journal arrives — your game pages are ready to use from day one.

My mantra (three words or your version):

My anchor word for the mid-game reset:

Your growth matters. Not just hers.

YOUR PRACTICE PAGES — IN YOUR JOURNAL

Your Parent Compass journal will have dedicated practice pages. These are not fill-in cards. They are full journal pages used every practice all season.

Each practice page will include:

- Drop-off intention — one intention for yourself before you park.
- Watch check-in — did you sit alone, did you observe without commentary.
- Pickup note — first two minutes, what happened, did she open it.
- Evening question — did you ask, did she open it, what came up.
- Home observation — what you noticed in her after practice this week.

USE THIS WORKBOOK UNTIL YOUR JOURNAL ARRIVES

Write your drop-off intention below. Practice it before the first practice.

My drop-off intention:

"I will not _____ in the car today."

WATCHING RULE — if you stay:

Q1 — Did I sit alone? No parent commentary. Phone away.	Q2 — Did I observe without coaching out loud? No sideline instructions. No correcting her during drills. Coaches hate it. It splits her focus.
---	--

Yes to both — you can stay. No to either — leave. Come back at pickup.

PICKUP — FIRST TWO MINUTES

Silence. Or her music if she puts it on. Drive. If she opens — listen. If she does not — drive.

The car ride is information — but only if you stop trying to extract it.

WAYPOINT 1

The family is her first performance environment. The car ride home is part of how she processes what she built in pr

WEEKLY CHECKPOINT PROMPTS

One question per week. Answer it honestly in your journal. These are the questions that separate parents who go through a program from parents who are changed by one.

W1

What is my own mantra this week?

W2

What did I ask her that I am proud of?

W3

Am I watching the game or watching her?

W4

When did I sit in silence and let her fill it?

W5

Did I protect her from my anxiety about the scoreboard this week?

W6

Midpoint — what is the conversation she has been waiting for me to start?

W7

When did I advocate FOR her instead of speaking FOR her?

W8

What is one coach instruction I heard her repeat?

W9

Did she see me regulate my own emotions this week?

W10

What am I proud of that has nothing to do with a win?

W11

What did I stop doing this season that I used to do?

W12

Did my behavior help her become a better athlete this season — yes or no and why?

WAYPOINT 9

Awareness without a framework does not create change. It creates guilt. You have the framework. The guilt stops. T
