

Your Starting Point

TRYOUTS

The most misunderstood week in youth sports.

SECTION 01 · BREAKTHROUGH TRACK · MAZE PERFORMANCE

01 · WHAT THIS WEEK ACTUALLY IS

THIS IS NOT A TEST.
IT IS A DATA POINT.

WAYPOINT 10 You vs. You. That is the only comparison that matters.

The athlete who treats tryouts as a test of her worth walks in anxious and playing not to fail.

The athlete who treats tryouts as a data point walks in curious and playing to show what she has been building.

Your MAZE gave you the tools. This week is where you use them.

02 · YOUR TIMING MAP

WHERE YOU ARE. WHAT IS LIVE. WHAT IS NOT YET.

MANTRA + HEROINE

LIVE

Three reps before you walk in. Every session.
Your heroine quality, bring it into the room.

GAME PAGES

NOT YET

Activate after you make a team and your season officially begins. Tryouts are the entry point.

INNER VOICE PATTERN

LIVE

You know what it says after a mistake.
Your mantra is what you say back. Use it.

PRACTICE PAGES

NOT YET

Use pre-game protocol: mantra, intention,
presence, without the journal pages.
The pages come when the season does.

03 · PARENT + STRATEGIC FOCUS

ATHLETE

Tryouts are not about competing with the athlete next to you. That creates execution confusion, you are playing her game not yours.

Use your MAZE model. Your three focus skills. Your intangibles. Your strengths. Put those on the floor.

The coach needs to see who you actually are right now — not a version of you trying to be someone else. That is what gets you placed correctly.

FAMILY

Coaches are not just evaluating your athlete. They are evaluating whether your family will trust the process.

Parents who are calm, present, and aligned at tryouts tell a coach everything they need to know about what the season will look like at home.

Misalignments caught now stay off the court all season.

"Coaches pick athletes. They also pick families. Show up as both."
