

Your Starting Point

SUMMER

Rest is not the enemy of development. Neglect is.

---

SECTION 06 · BREAKTHROUGH TRACK · MAZE PERFORMANCE

01 · WHAT THIS PHASE ACTUALLY IS

SUMMER IS NOT OFF SEASON.
IT IS DECISION SEASON.

COLLEGE CAMPS

CLUB TRAINING

SCHOOL CONDITIONING

FAMILY VACATION

REST (NOBODY GIVES PERMISSION)

02 · TIMING MAP + THE CAMP QUESTION

HABIT TRACKER

LIVE — ADAPTED

Adjust habits for training-focused summer. Same tracker. Different context. 30 seconds before bed. Still every night.

PRACTICE PAGES

WHEN YOU TRAIN

Camps, open gyms, club practices — use practice pages. Rest days are real. Document training. Not rest.

GAME PAGES

TOURNAMENTS

Summer tournaments and showcase events get game pages. Recreational play and open gym do not.

THE CAMP DECISION FRAMEWORK

Start here: Does this camp address one of my three focus skills or a wheel category where my score was lowest?

If yes — strong candidate. If no — ask what it is actually doing for you.

Camps should do double duty. Training and exposure. Exposure is not only college recruiting. It includes: switching clubs, making a different team at your current club, meeting a coaching staff whose system you want to play in, getting eyes on a campus, finding a coach who specializes in your specific focus skill.

Family needs a vacation? Find a camp in that location and do double duty. Rest and development are not opposites.

03 · STRATEGIC FOCUS

INTENTIONAL REST. INTENTIONAL TRAINING. NOTHING ACCIDENTAL.

CHOOSE FROM YOUR WHEEL

Let your satisfaction scores drive camp and training decisions — not social pressure or convenience.

PROTECT REST LIKE HABITS

An athlete who rests intentionally in June comes back to August training differently than one who never stopped.

KEEP THE TRACKER RUNNING

30 seconds. Every night. Do not let summer break the streak you built during the season.

COME BACK WITH BASELINE

Start pre-season with data — not a gap. Your wheel scores from post-season are your first entry point.